

FROM TOOLS TO TRUST: ADVANCING SAFEGUARDING

 7-9 December, 2024

 Bangkok, Thailand

Join us for an empowering three-day learning journey, diving into dynamic discussions, hands-on learning, and mastering the art of implementing safeguarding tools and approaches. Together, we will learn how to transform safeguarding strategies with survivor-centered approaches, and explore ways to forge stronger connections with communities through effective communication on safeguarding.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

- Safeguarding commitments and tools
 Understanding safeguarding as a key commitment for upholding accountability to all stakeholders.
- Understanding the standard conduct and voicing concerns upon code of conduct violations with organisations
 Assessing agreements within the humanitarian community on expectations in terms of staff conduct as well as expected responses.
- Survivor centered approaches
 What are we looking for with regards to survivor centred approaches? Can we manage survivor centredness and still apply zero tolerance to non-action?
- Applying Sexual Exploitation Abuse and Harassment (SEAH) data into programming
 Using available data on SEAH into program cycles and improving the quality of projects.
- Establishing and implementing effective complaints and response mechanisms
 Exploring ways of working with communities and other stakeholders to effectively implement the four key pillars of a robust complaints and response mechanism.
- Engaging with communities on complaints and response mechanism, SEAH and Safeguarding
 Learning about working with communities to understand contextualised systems in place as well as expectations from community members in terms of complaints handling and conflict resolution.
